

Romance and the Vending Machine Recognized by Writer's Digest International Self-Published Books Awards
Romance and the Vending Machine and Other Stories by William S. Frankl has received an honorable mention in the 10th Annual Writer's Digest International Self-Published Books Awards.

This book was chosen to be honored out of 367 entered in the mainstream fiction category. In this category, we awarded one first-place award and 10 honorable mentions.

The judge of the book noted, "This slim volume of more than 40 short stories is a keeper, something to have with you when waiting in line or for those last few minutes before turning in, or just to savor, one or two more stories at a time."

~ Jane Friedman, Writer's Digest Managing Editor, April 2, 2003